Playhouse with desk, Aluminium post and HPL floor

The Playhouse with Porch is elevated a bit from the ground to offer a step up over ground level and two play compartments, an open air porch and a roofed house. The house offers an excellent framework for meeting and engaging, playing shop or whatever fits the child's imaginative play. Meeting and engaging are important for the child's social development, and role play is important for the child's development of cognitive skills, especially language development.
