Home & Garden Labyrinth

KOMPAN
Let's play

Its familiar and creative design comes with a vast variety of manipulative and tactile elements that makes for great storytelling, role playing and interaction. All these great elements also stimulate social and verbal interaction. Toddlers love to mimic the world around them and in doing this - their own home is a natural favorite. They can either use one of the many tactile and manipulative elements to build a better understanding of cause-and-effect or they can climb through it, interacting verbally and physically. Hereby, toddlers will build an identity to support them in the years to come.
