Toddlers castle with two towers and rock climber

Playing is how toddlers learn about the world around them. Through play, they try out new skills, explore their imagination and creativity, and learn about relationships with other people. KOMPAN's Multiplay for toddlers is designed to help toddlers safely explore and find their place in the world.

The Multiplay structures stimulate the development of vital skills. Familiar play spaces they can identify with (house and home) give them a sense of self and belonging. The elevated playhouses serve as both a physical challenge to climb and a quiet area underneath for a break and a chat with a friend.
