

Castle Gatehouse with Roof & Plastic slide

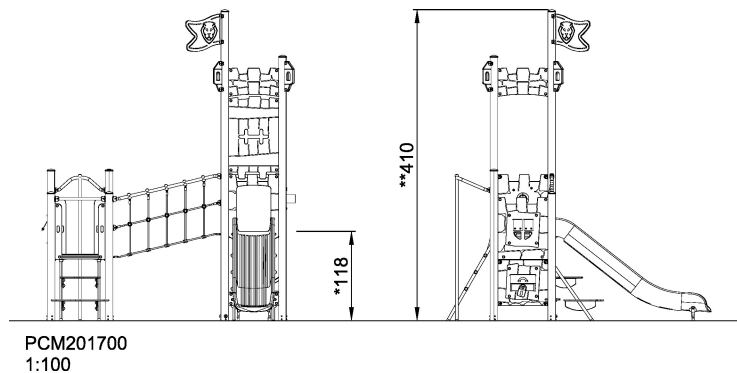

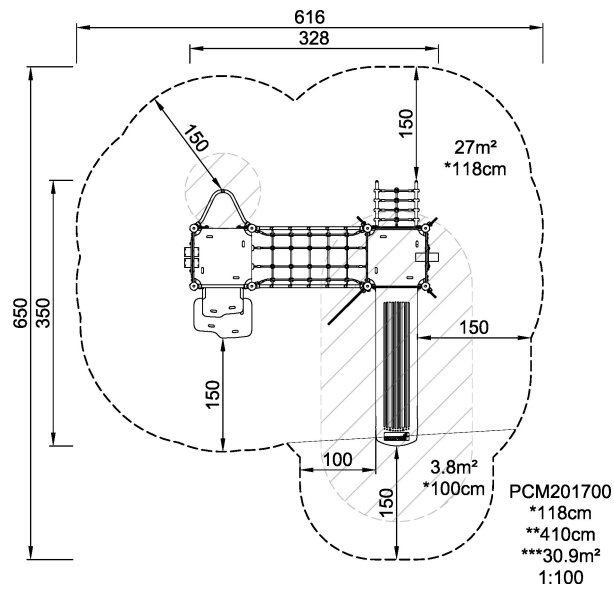

This multi deck play tower offers high play value and supports children's development in all major areas. Physically, children will train their gross motor skills as they negotiate the climbing net, acquiring balance, cross-body coordination and stronger muscles. On the platforms, stimulating activities await. On the lower latform, children will find two panels. The port window figures well into preschoolers' dramatic play – don't be surprised to see them using it as the wheel of a ship! Stepping up to the high platform, children will find a balcony, from which they can interact with others, or steer the ship. The slide has a tummy-tickling decline, and will be quite a trip for preschoolers.
