Three towers with two bridges, wood posts, plastic slide

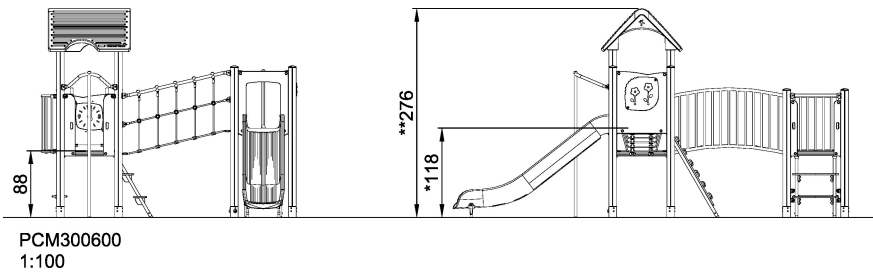

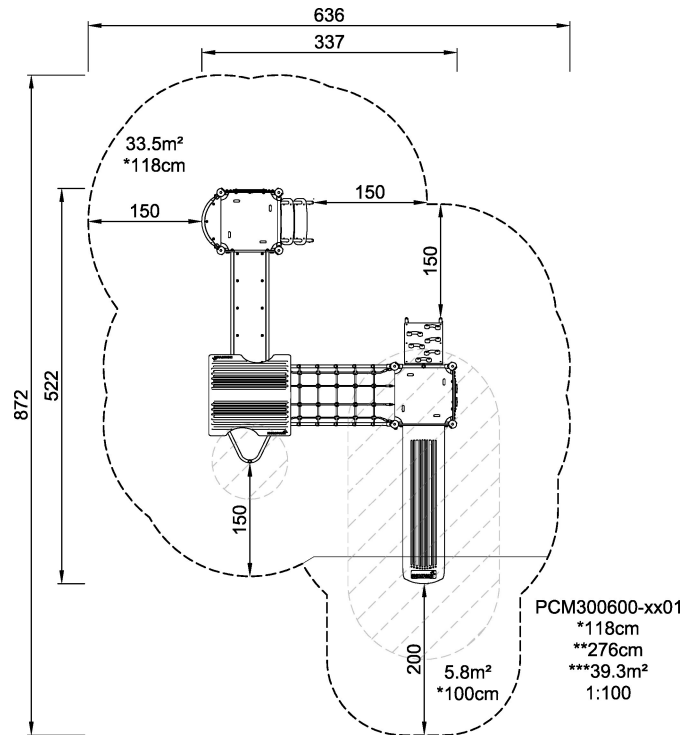

Traversing the net bridge on this triple play tower or climbing the access ladders is the perfect way to train balance and coordination while playing. For a quick exit the slide or the fireman's pole can be used. On the social side this play tower facilitates social interactions. From the balcony children can communicate with peers or use the activity panels together. The faces and time panel features faces with different expressions on one side and a moveable clock on the other.
