Four Tower with Banister Bars

KOMPAN
Let's play

This magnet for climbing, balancing and intense rough-and-tumble play with its transparency and play variation is a haven for older children. The transparency makes it possible to see all the other children playing, stimulating social interaction and positive competition. This makes the play go on and on, motivating the children to test out a wide scope of physical competences and games, e.g. do-not-touch-the-ground. The variety of nets and balance links apart from training agility, balance and cross-coordination also allows for more children playing in groups together. The varied accesses, from the fast access stairs and climbing wall to the inclined crawling access, ensures both fast and slower access for a variety of ages and user abilities. The spaciousness of the nets allow for many users, stimulating social-emotional competences such as turn-taking.
